- Upon arrival at camp, campers will be guided to their camp group, they will remain together for the entire camp session without mixing with other campers and staff in close contact circumstances, to the largest extent possible.

Student Conduct and Disciplinary Policy

It is expected that students, at all times, will behave in accordance with the accepted practices of respect and responsibility for one's personal actions. Therefore, at Summit Schools students, families and staff should recognize their responsibility to respect the dignity of the individual and strive for an environment that promotes mutual respect. School staff members and families are encouraged to utilize appropriate resources to promote positive student conduct.

During registration, families are asked to provide any necessary/appropriate information about their child's needs, including but not limited to learning differences, IEPs, medical/issues/restrictions, etc. so that Summit may ascertain that our summer camp environment is a mutual fit for the child and the camp staff. Summit reserves the right to contact families further for information, as well as limit a student's participation if our resources cannot effectively meet the child's needs. Summit also reserves the right to discontinue enrollment without refund at any time if families knowingly do not disclose accurate information and/or withhold information that would be necessary for Summit's evaluation of our summer camp environment being a mutual fit for the child and the summer camp staff.

Standards for student conduct and safety are designed to assure continuity of teaching and learning without disruption, protection of the school community and the insurance of the rights and welfare of all parties concerned. However, it is recognized that from time to time students may use poor judgement with regard to their behavior. On those occasions the school exercises what it considers to be prudent disciplinary action, consistent with the offense, in order not to condone the misbehavior or jeopardize the integrity of the school. With this in mind, the school follows an orderly set of guidelines. It should be noted that the disciplinary action will be reasonable and realistic, yet not tailored to personal schedules of students or their families.

The following general guidelines constitute the Standards for students:

- Respect yourself and others.
- Respect school and personal property and the property of others.

Students are responsible for damages that they cause to the school, personal property and the property of others resulting from the act. The students and his/her parent(s) or legal guardian will be responsible for repairs or replacement costs of damages.

If a student fails to follow the Standards, the school is obligated to respond, and actions including those described below, may be taken. The following are Disciplinary Response Guidelines:

1. Verbal Warning – an incident of minor student misconduct may result in a redirection of behavior by a staff member.
2. Student Concern Notification – a written communication between the family and school, as well as documentation of those concerns. The form will be managed in a way that is age appropriate for the individual student. Families are responsible for discussing, completing and returning the form by the return date stated on the form.
3. Disciplinary Probation – a formal expression by the school that the students' actions have placed his or her continued attendance at school in jeopardy. A conference is held with the Summer Camp Director, parent(s), and if deemed appropriate by the Director, the teacher. A letter is also placed in the student's file outlining the terms of the probation.
4. Suspension – suspension from school can result from a serious breach of conduct. The length of the suspension will range in duration depending on the severity of the infraction.
5. Expulsion – a student may be expelled from Summit's Summer Camps for serious misconduct or for violating a school rule while on disciplinary probation. A student can be expelled or dismissed by the school without first receiving a warning, student notification or disciplinary probation for serious misconduct. Families are not subject to reimbursement in the event of an expulsion.

Classroom Rules

Students and teachers will establish classroom rules at the beginning of each camp.

Weapons shall be confiscated from persons who bring them onto school property or to school sponsored activities. The student could be subject to the disciplinary action of expulsion.

Examples of harassment include, but may not be limited to, jokes, stories, pictures or objects that are offensive, tend to alarm, annoy, abuse or demean individuals or groups. Students who believe that they have suffered harassment should report such matters to staff or administrators. Any matters involving complaints of discrimination or harassment shall remain confidential to the extent that is reasonably possible.

Summit Schools will take action to halt all harassment. A student whose behavior is found to be a violation of the regulation will be subject to disciplinary action, including suspension or expulsion.

Use of Reasonable Force

Corporal Punishment: Corporal punishment is defined as the intentional physical punishment of a student. No staff member shall inflict corporal punishment upon a student. A staff member's physical contact with the body of a student is justified if it is reasonable and necessary under the circumstances and is not designed nor intended to cause pain.

Any staff member may, within the scope of his/her employment, use and apply such force as is reasonable and necessary:

1. For self-defense.
2. To protect the safety of another person.
3. To restrain a student from self-inflicted injury.
4. To stop a fight between students.
5. For the protection of property.

Reasonable force, including deadly force, may be used even if an alternative course of action is available, if the alternative entails a risk to the life or safety, or the life or safety of a third party, or requires one to abandon or retreat from one's dwelling or place of business or employment.
